Carmel Valley's 'Earth Station' to hold Open House

THIS 97-FOOT DIAMETER parabolic dish antenna is the dominant structure at the earth station for commercial satellite communications located near Jamesburg off the Cachagua Road in the upper Carmel Valley, Central California. The facility is capable of handling and processing all types of overseas communications: multi-channel telephone, teletypewriter, facsimile, data and both black & white and color television. DEDICATION TO BE HELD FRIDAY FOR CARMEL VALLEY EARTH STATION

An aerial view of the Jamesburg, California, earth station for commercial satellite communications showing the 10-story tall antenna and control building. The station sends and receives communications via the new INTELSAT III satellite stationed over the Pacific. It provides service between the U.S. Mainland, and Hawaii, Australia, Japan, The Philippines and Thailand.

Dedication ceremonies open to the press and public will be held at the site of the new high-capacity earth station for commercial satellite communications near Jamesburg on Friday, April 25, starting at 11 a.m.

The station complex, representing one of the largest advances in communications technology, is located on a 170-acre site in the Cachagua Valley, off the upper Carmel Valley.

It is equipped with a 97-foot diameter antenna standing taller than a 10-story building. So sensitive is the antenna and related equipment that faint signals can be detected from certain stars many light years away.

Communication signals processed through the station are sent and received via the new INTELSAT III satellite stationed in a synchronous, or stationary, orbit 22,300 miles above the equator over the mid-Pacific.

The station is capable of handling all forms of high-quality communications — multi-channel telephone, telegraph, data and both color and black and white television. More than 200 full-time circuits presently are being handled, 24 hours a day, providing service between the U.S. mainland, Hawaii, Australia, Japan, Philippines and Thailand.

The Jamesburg Earth Station

The earth station near Jamesburg is a major West Coast point for U.S. overseas communications serving the Pacific area. It is a vital new link in the developing global system of commercial satellite communications.

A number of dramatic television events have been handled by the station since it was completed in 1968, including transmission of portions of the colorful Mexico City Olympic Games to Japan, TV coverage abroad of the Apollo 8 and 9 missions, and many others. The station went into fulltime commercial operation December 1. Today, it handles more than 205 circuits 24 hours a day between the U.S. mainland and Hawaii, Japan, Australia, Thailand and The Philippines.

The station complex incorporates many of the latest advances in electronics and space communications technology.

All forms of high-quality commercial communications via satellite can be processed through the station: multichannel telephone, telegraph, facsimile, data, both color and black-and-white television. Its task is to process such information, simultaneously sending to, and receiving it from, a synchronous satellite stationed in an equatorial orbit 22,300 miles over the Pacific.

The station operates with the new INTELSAT III satellite, successfully launched from Cape Kennedy February 5, and now positioned over the mid-Pacific near the Gilbert Islands. This advanced satellite has greater power and capacity than the INTELSAT II series satellites which have been in service for about two years over the Atlantic and Pacific.

The orbital speed of the INTELSAT III (and other such synchronous satellites) is adjusted to keep pace with the earth's rotation so that the satellite appears to remain stationary over one spot on earth. The beam from the satellite can cover an area embracing about one-third of the earth. It acts essentially as a radio relay tower in space for transmissions between one earth station and another, or between many stations at the same time.

The Jamesburg facility, then, is part of a flexible system, composed of integrated ground and space elements. Linked to existing ground networks, it provides greater capacity and diversity for communication channels serving U.S. overseas needs.

The 170-acre Jamesburg station is located in the Cachagua Valley, off the upper Carmel Valley, about 30 miles southeast and inland from Monterey, or about 150 miles south of San Francisco.

To perform its tasks with a high degree of reliability, the station is equipped with specialized and sophisticated facilities.

The large antenna, the landmark of the station complex, stands taller than a 10-story building. The total weight of the antenna — the metal portions — is about 375 tons. The concrete tower above ground supporting this structure is another 315 tons. Despite its massive size the antenna can turn at velocities of one degree per second while tracking a satellite. So sensitive is the antenna, and associated equipment, that it can detect radio energy from certain known stars many light years away.

Communications are transmitted and received at the same time through the antenna at microwave frequencies. Transmitted signals are in the six gigacycle range, and receive signals in the four gigacycle range.

An autotrack system normally is used to keep the big antenna accurately pointed at the satellite to within hundredths of one degree. The station received beacon signals constantly emitted by the satellite, translates these into information to adjust the big dish and keep it automatically locked on the satellite at all times.

Communications signals received from a satellite are only a fraction of a watt in power — mere space whispers — when they reach the earth station. These signals are captured, amplified a millionfold, funneled by the antenna into super-sensitive receiver-amplifiers located in an equipment room behind the dish reflector, again boosted in power, then further processed through the control building.

Outgoing communications, after processing through the station, are transmitted at the same time through the antenna which concentrates them into an extremely accurate, narrow beam.

Powerful receivers and transmitters at the station are capable of handling nearly five times the communications capacity of similar equipment installed barely two years ago at similar U.S. commercial stations — representing a significant advance in technology. Backup facilities are provided for redundancy to assure continuity of service in case of an outage in any major component.

Centralized operation of the station is handled in the control building, which houses a maze of intricate equipment. Here, skilled technicians can constantly test and monitor performance of the station, control the antenna remotely, operate equipment to reroute or bring up new channels, and co-ordinate operations with other stations abroad in the Pacific network.

Although communications processed through the stations are amplified many separate times, altered in frequency and filtered into different forms, then sent and received thousands of miles through space, the operation takes only a fraction of a second. The voice quality of an individual telephone call sent via commercial satellite is as clear as though the call were made from next door. Television, teletypewriter, data and other general communications are of high-quality, meeting or exceeding international standards.

A number of companies contributed to the successful construction of the Jamesburg station. Prime contractors who supplied equipment and services for the station were:

Philco-Ford Corp., Western Development Laboratories Division — antenna.

Raytheon Company, Equipment Division — ground communications and electronic equipment.

Radio Engineering Laboratories, Division of Dynamics Corporations of America —high power amplifiers.

Airborne Instruments Laboratory, Division of Cutler-Hammer — low noise receivers.

General Telephone and Electronics, Inc. — threshold extension demodulators.

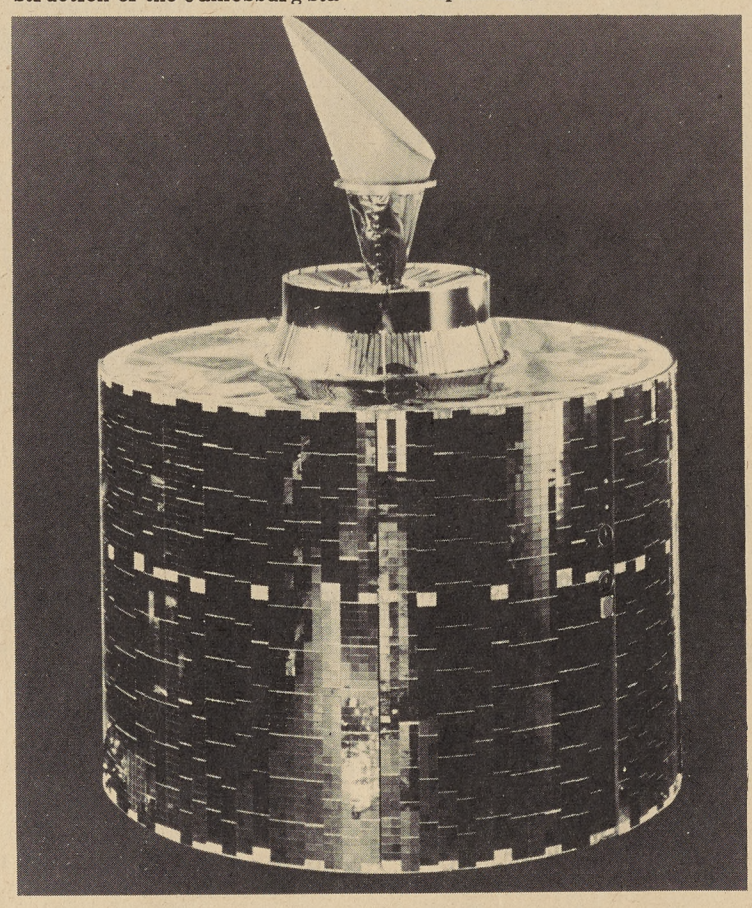
Nippon Electronic Company, Ltd. — multiplex-demultiplex equipment.

Holmes & Narver, Inc. — architects-engineers.

H.A. Ekelin & Associates — general construction contractors.

These companies performed under contracts with Communications Satellite Corporation, acting as Manager on behalf of the joint ownership arrangement.

The Earth Station Implementation Divisions of COMSAT's technical staff had responsibility for supervising overall design and installation of the stations, and integration of the components.



New INTELSAT III series satellites are now positioned in synchronous orbits over the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans. Each satellite has a design capacity of about 1,200 voice circuits, a design lifetime of five years, and can provide service to more than one-third of the earth.

LEADERS PRESENT

A number of government and industry leaders are expected to be present for the ceremonies, including United States Representative Burt L. Talcott, representatives of the international communication carrier companies who share ownership in the station, state and local officials, and other dignitaries.

Dr. Joseph V. Charyk, President of Communications Satellite Corporation, and George L. Killion of San Francisco, Vice Chairman of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and a member of COMSAT's Board of Directors since the Corporation's founding, will attend the event.

The ceremonies, lasting about 45 minutes, will be held at the base of the new antenna. It is expected that several unique demonstrations of international satellite communications will be performed as part of the dedication, including the snapping of a ribbon by satellite signal. Exhibits will be on display, a brief color film depicting progress in space communications will be shown, and visitors will be given guided tours through the facility.

The station near Jamesburg is one of six U.S. stations located in five states and Puerto Rico. The stations are at Andover, Maine; Brewster Flat, Washington; Paumalu, Hawaii; Cayey, Puerto Rico; Etam, West Virginia and Jamesburg. All are now in commercial operation with satellites over the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans.

All six stations are jointly owned in varying proportions by a consortium of communication carrier companies, in accordance with quotas established by the Federal Communications Commission in an interium decision.

At Jamesburg the quotas are: COMSAT 50%, American Telephone and Telegraph Company 28.5%, RCA Global Communications 10.5%, ITT World Communications 7% and Western Union International 4%.

Valley residents demand 2½-acre lot minimum, elimination of 'G' zone

A crowd overflowed the Community Center last week when the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association met with County officials for a lively round-table discussion.

Members of the panel discussion, conducted by Willard Branson, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, consisted of Dr. Edward Marcucci, chairman of the County Planning Board; Keith Evans, planning commissioner and Mel Bakeman, assistant County planning director.

The tenor of the Valleyites' demand was immediate action on the slope density problem. Hand clapping signified unanimous approval at the suggestion from the floor by George Hobbs that an interim 2-1/2 acre minimum zoning ordinance be adopted pending the revision of the master plan.

Such an ordinance, he stated, would serve as a protective measure while the master plan was being revised to guarantee a 2-1/2 acre minimum or slope density formula for building sites in undeveloped hills.

WATER CONSERVATION

Branson's opening remarks concerning the creation of a zone for water conservation and recreation encompassing the Monterey Peninsula were forgotten in the ensuing demands of the audience that immediate action be taken on the slope density problems.

He also had mentioned that the 4-lane road had been put back a year probably due to damage of the roads from results of flooding. A drainage study is now under way.

Asked if the property owners could get a zoning ordinance applying to the Valley instead of County-wide, Branson said it could be done by the CVPOA backing the Planning Commission in hearings.

"Carmel Valley is not alone in wanting slope density as other areas are demanding it, and all want immediate action," he said.

"I like the Master Plan, but everything is subject to change," Branson stated. However, he said that he felt that any zoning changes should be incorporated into a new Master Plan.

Questions hurled from the floor were treated with concern and good humor as Evans, Marcucci and Bateman gave opinions and advice from experience and technical knowledge.

Some of the members felt that the master plan was merely a guideline and had no legal status without an accompanying ordinance and felt that the drawing up of a revised master plan was a waste of time at this time.

CVPOA members had expressed their desire for the elimination of the "G" zone which permits certain commercial uses on 10-acre parcels outside of present commercial zones. Evans said that he was opposed to the "G" zone but felt that the interests of those who own these acreages should be taken into account. He said that he felt the 2-1/2 acre minimum for undeveloped hillsides would be much easier to administer.

SEWAGE PROBLEM

Robert Read, of Robles del Rio, asked if something could be done about the sewage problem from the hills in Hitchcock Canyon as it was beginning to give off an objectionable odor. He was assured by the panel that a study was being made, and a paid consultant was on the job now. Results will be complete in 6 to 8 months, as the entire Valley is now under study.

Branson told the audience that he had been assured that the unsightly view of the old automobile bodies that line the banks of Carmel River are to be covered with dirt. He also said that the Fish and Game Commission is now issuing citations for anyone moving the stream bed without a permit.

A meeting of the panel members took place after the CVPOA assemblage to set up a special meeting of county officials the first of the week.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor

Now is the time to take a good look at our "Village" and our surroundings!

Since the opening of the other "Centers" in Carmel Valley, the businesses in the Village have been fighting a losing battle against raises in taxes, land value, etc.

Our Village was the "First" and is the real little country town!

Few people realize that at odd spots in the residential zones, are commercial spots placed in a rather helter-skelter fashion. If the acres immediately surrounding the 1/4 to 1/2-acre residential lots were allowed to be divided into 1/2-acre lots (or even a little less) it would make more available for the young families who would love to live in the Valley. Why advertise the beauties of the Valley, and have no land to offer them?

What is better to see, an acre of weeds and grass that becomes a dangerous fire hazard in summer, or two nice homes with well-kept gardens?

Most young families or retired people cannot afford the care and maintenance of a large piece of land! The large property owners are well protected and can preserve their land as they see fit. This concerns only our immediate "Village" surroundings.

Our Businesses need people – to be able to survive and maintain their economy!

Let's get a plan going for our own little Village before it is too late, or we might be choked out by other large Centers!

Sincerely,
Vera Stokes

The Rhyming Philosopher

EXPOSITORY

Whatever the cause of continuous rain
Which buckets the land in a furious flood;
Whatever the plan of persistence of pain
Brought on by extravagant spilling of blood,
There must be a scheme of destructive intent
From somewhere to balance the surging of life,
For even the creatures around us are bent
Like us to survive in continual strife.

Which leads to conjecture that Life is a game
With rules unrevealed and objective obscured,
The while we keep fighting and seeking to claim
A homestead of substance, however procured.

This earth has existed for millions of years,
Inhabited briefly by Man in its slime;
So why should we covet it, paying with tears
For what we possess but a moment in time.

I sometimes suspect it's a hideous joke
Inflicted to test how we infants react;
Like having a nightmare, so when we awoke
We'd learn to distinguish 'tween fiction and fact!

WHAT A WAY TO GO: Imagine the surprise of the Bill Nelson's who were called early Sunday and told that they could find their car packed and ready in the Village for their trip to San Diego where the Lt. Comdr. has been ordered by the Navy. Filled to the gunwales with wads of newspaper and two flat tires, Nelson with white T-shirt, looks on in stunned surprise at the practical joke organized by friends and neighbors. The naval officer left this week with his wife and three sons for the south.

Spring Flower Show on May 10

It's spring flower-show time again!

The Carmel Valley Garden Assn. is preparing, with the help of generous rainfall this year, for their Annual Flower Show to be held on Saturday, May 10, from 1:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. in the multipurpose room of Tularcitos School, Carmel Valley Village.

There will be divisions in potted plants, cut flowers, and flower arrangements. These competitive exhibits are open to all amateur gardeners everywhere.

Rules and exhibit items are listed in brochures available in nurseries and local stores. Information may be had by calling the Show Chairman, Chris Schiesswohl at 659-2347; the general chairman, Charlotte Kelley at 659-2539, or Salih Mendy, publicity chairman, at 659-2058.

All material must be registered and placed at the school before 10 a.m. on May 10. A plant sale at bargain prices will be a popular part of the show.

Everyone is invited to attend the show either as an interested spectator or an an exhibitor. The success of the flower show depends on our exhibitors, so please bring your favorite flowers and plants for your neighbors and others to see and enjoy.

VICAR BECOMES RECTOR: With the granting of parish status to St. Dunstans' Church on Robinson Canyon Road, Rev. James W. Brock was selected by the Diocese of California as the first rector. The institution of Rev. Brock was held Sunday with a large crowd in attendance at both services. Shown above are James Rutledge, Junior Warden; Rt. Rev. C. SAM JUREY NAMED 'RANCHER OF YEAR'

In recognition for his conservation practices, Sam Jurey, manager of the Carmel Ranch Co. property in Upper Carmel Valley, was named "rancher of the year" for 1968.

The Carmel Valley Soil Conservation District awarded him the annual Goodyear conservation award plaque for the conservation efforts on the ranch where Santa Gertrudis cattle are raised.

A local unit of government, the Soil Conservation District is controlled and directed by local landowners elected by the people of this area.

Hans Ewoldsen of Big Sur is president of the group with Bob Wilson, Bruno Odello and Russel Wolter as directors and Jan Cahoon as secretary.

There are 262,341 acres in the Carmel Valley district which had 147 co-operators on 114,458 acres and 63 farm and ranch plans on 54,787 acres.

Permission needed before changing course of river

"The protection and conservation of the fish and wildlife resources of this state are hereby declared to be of utmost public interest," is the opening statement of Section 1600 of the Fish and Game code, Article 3, Chapter 6, Statutes 1961.

Section 1602 requires that any person who substantially changes the bed, channel or bank of any river, stream or lake or uses any material from the streambeds shall notify the Department of Fish and Game of such operation. The Department then shall submit to the person its recommendations as to measures necessary to protect fish and wildlife.

Persons conducting such operations shall not commence work until such recommendations have been received.

This important law has been widely publicized and riddidly enforced since its inception in 1961. Many arrests have been made by Fish and Game enforcement personnel of those who failed to comply.

Special forms for notifying the Department of planned operations of this type are available from your local Fish and Game Warden or from the District Fish and Game Office at 575 Calle Principal in Monterey. Recommendations will be received from the Fish and Game Regional Headquarters at San Francisco.

Set for hearing

Set for hearing on the tentative agenda of the Monterey County Planning Commission is a Use Permit for the Carmel Valley Racquet Club for an addition to the tennis club.

Among the design approvals set for hearing is a sign for the Merry Peach restaurant; dwelling remodel, Mrs. Katherine McEnery; dwelling, Skuli Bjornsson; Harkukuo's Beauty Salon, a sign; Kenneth Walker, dwelling; and a sign for Carmel - Hawaii Investors, Inc.

Hearing on a Zoning Permit has been set for Carmel Properties Co., for a service station.

Boy organist to play at Sunday service

A young boy will be guest organist at St. Philip's Lutheran Church in Mid Carmel Valley, when David Sundahl of King City will play the full service beginning at 10 a.m. Sunday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Sundahl, David is the organist at Grace Lutheran Church in King City. He has played the piano since the age of 3 and has been a church organist since he was eight years old. His ability to play the organ began when he was able to reach the foot manual.

Two of his friends, Ted and Tim Ayers, twin sons of Rev. and Mrs. Bruce Ayers, will accompany him here to sing a duet for the Worship Service.

The appearance of David at St. Philip's is a birthday surprise for Mrs. J. Bernard Bretheim who is the regular church organist. Those reading this article are asked to help keep the secret.

EARTHQUAKE FIELD TRIP PLANNED

Reservations are being taken now for an all-day earthquake field trip to be conducted Saturday, May 17 under the auspices of Monterey Peninsula College.

The trip will be led by Dr. Gordon B. Oakeshott, deputy chief of the California Division of Mines and Geology, and Thomas Rogers, a geologist who is an authority on the Hollister earthquake area.

A bus will pick participants up at the MPC administration building at 8:30 a.m.; head northeast out of Monterey via Highways 1 and 156 and north on 101; visit the San Andreas fault zone in Chittenden Pass, San Juan Bautista and Hollister; and end up at the Almaden Winery south of Hollister.

Participants, who must pay a pre-registration fee of $5 at the college community services office, will be limited to 70. Persons attending are asked to wear comfortable, casual clothing and bring sack lunches.

On May 16, the Friday preceding the field trip, Dr. Oakeshott will deliver a free lecture on "Geologic Factors in Urban Planning" at 8 p.m. in the MPC lecture-forum.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE tangerines through the dark leaves in Allen Dickenson's Garden on the top of Chaparral Road? Just one tangerine tree, but making a beautiful spot of color in the bright sunshine, and an effective contrast to the yellow lemons and the two lemon trees.

One is tempted, succumbs and attempts a SNOW PUDDING. The results are rewarding; here's how:

1-1/2 tbs plain, granulated gelatin — 1/2 cup cold water
2 eggs — 2/3 cup granulated sugar
1/4 tsp salt — 1/2 cup lemon juice
Grated rind 1/4 lemon — 1/2 cup additional sugar
1 pint mixed diced oranges, peaches or pears (canned)

SOAK GELATIN in the cold water for 5 minutes. Separate the eggs. To beaten egg yolks add the sugar, salt, lemon juice and grated rind and mix well. Cook and stir in double boiler until consistency of custard, about 5 minutes. Stir in the gelatin and let cool.

WHIP EGG WHITES and combine with the additional 1/2 cup of sugar. Add to the first mixture. Place in refrigerator until beginning to thicken. Then fold in the fruit. Transfer to sherbet glasses and chill until firm, about 4 hours. Serve plain, or with whipped cream.

Or try COTTAGE PUDDING, made this way:

1/3 cup shortening — 2/3 cup sugar
1 egg — 1 cup milk
Grated rind 1/2 lemon or 1 tsp lemon juice — 2 cups all purpose flour
3 tsp baking powder — 1/2 tsp salt

Cream the shortening and sugar together until light. Beat and add the egg; sift together the dry ingredients. Add the lemon rind and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Beat thoroughly and add lemon juice.

Turn into oiled pan (about 11"x7") and bake 35 minutes in moderate oven 350 - 375. Cut in squares and serve warm with lemon sauce or with stewed fruit.

Vietnam doctor speaks in Valley

Dr. "Jim Turpin", founder and president of Project Concern, will speak at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club under the sponsorship of the Monterey Peninsula Jaycees, May 2.

Recently returned from Vietnam, he founded the organization which serves the diseased and hungry in Apallachia, Mexico, Hong Kong, Vietnam and Indonesia. He began with a "floating clinic" in 1962 when he started with the hull of an old Chinese junk in Hong Kong harbor. His first year among the sampans proved such a success he expanded and was aided in his program by the generous donations of the services of doctors, lab technicians and nurses.

He was invited to Vietnam where he trained young people of adequate education the basics in first aid and treatment of common diseases.

For information call Ted Lachelt, 624-2831 or Roger Poyner, 373-2722.

Pet of the week

BREATH OF SPRING: Nestled in a basket of daisies, this little beige and white male kitten is eight weeks old and ready for adoption. He and other suitable pets can be found at the SPCA shelter, La Vega Verde, on the Salinas Highway, telephone 373-2631. (Photo by Louis and Virginia Kay)

Pi Phi's celebrate 101st anniversary

Mrs. J. Randolph Kennedy and Mrs. E.W. DeKay will be hostesses for the Founder's Day luncheon of the Monterey Peninsula Alumni Club of Pi Beta Phi Saturday at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club House Saturday at 1 p.m.

The affair will commemorate the 101st year of the founding of the Sorority. Members wishing to attend are asked to call Mrs. Barbara Prichard, 624-3472 by today (Thursday).

Mrs. Rex Pryer heads Festival

Mrs. Rex Pryer will head the committees for the annual Festival of the Grape, Sunday, May 18, at the Rancho del Monte Country Club from 3 to 5 p.m.

The benefit affair is sponsored by the Board of Directors of the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center. Funds derived from this event are used in the operation and maintenance of the Community Youth Center building on Ford Road, financing the pool adjacent to the building and providing programs for the youth of the Valley.

Assisting Mrs. Pryer are Mrs. Harvey Deal, ticket chairman; Mrs. Dale Buche, cheese and bread; Mrs. Rudi Marzi, decorations and Mrs. Gordon Harlander, publicity.

It is suggested by the committee that lady guests wear low heels to the event, which will be on the lawn.

The Cypress Swim Club will give exhibitions at the pool, and informal accordian music will be provided by Curt Pryer.

Book sale offers great bargains

Book enthusiasts of all ages should mark Friday, April 25, the date of the 5th Annual "Bargains-In-Books" sale, sponsored by the Monterey Bay Wellesley Club from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Estrada Adobe on Tyler Street in Monterey, behind Monterey Savings and Loan Association.

Generous donations from many libraries around the Peninsula promise a wide variety of intriguing books to choose from. Cookbooks, children's books, travel and history books and garden books are just a small sample of the many categories to be offered at the sale.

Recent fiction as well as classics; biographies; piles of paperbacks; bound sets of books in near-perfect condition; French, German and Spanish language books; and religious and philosophical volumes will also be on sale at this popular event.

Bargain hunters will find low prices and unexpected treasures among the hundreds of books available with many volumes of special interest, such as an illustrated edition of "Seven Pillars of Wisdom" by T.E. Lawrence, the four-volume "Abraham Lincoln" by Carl Sandburg, and several books on California and the West by John Muir, as well as a number of volumes written about his life.

Proceeds from the sale will benefit the scholarship fund at Wellesley College. Anyone wishing to donate books to the sale may do so by calling Mrs. Russell Thomson, 624-8945.

Chairman of this year's sale is Mrs. Alfred H. Marshall. She is being assisted by the following committee members: Mrs. Egbert Schenck, Mrs. Alexander Merivale, Mrs. Walter Tower, Mrs. Warren Kirk, Mrs. Marion Cotton, Mrs. Edgar T. Zook, Mrs. Richard Bower, and Mrs. Thomson.

Boutique, beauty salon open at shopping center

A new botique and beauty salon opens in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, when June Turner celebrates her tenth year of operation on the Monterey Peninsula with her third salon in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

Though taking appointments now, the formal opening date is May 11 from 3 to 6 p.m.

The salon, managed by Don Estes, features a Boutique, showing unusual clothes and gift items. Mr. Joseph, her son, is there as stylist. He will attend the Salon Business seminar in Madrid, Spain and expects to bring back new European styles.

'Oklahoma!' to be given an intimate performance

Carmel's "intimate Oklahoma!" opens this week for a six performance run.

Heralding Carmel High's entrance into musical comedy production, the popular show will offer full cast and orchestra all contained within the arena stage of Brey Hall.

For interest and variety, several of the cast members are double-cast. The opening matinee will feature Kevin Huston as Curley, Susan Rudzis as Laurie, Rick Humm as Will Parker and Kitty Hendrix as Ado Annie.

Chris Hansen, Kitty Hendrix — who has absorbed both key female roles — and Debbie Berry alternate in the parts.

Kitty has been seen in former high school productions as well as at the White Oaks. Chris is an accomplished instrumental musician, Kevin is a newcomer to Carmel as is Debbie, who brings experience from Palo Alto little theatre with her, while Rick has had musical comedy training in Los Angeles schools.

Bill Faulkner, familiar to many Peninsulans, for his past-year's roles at the Old Wharf theatre opposite Boris Karloff and Ethel Waters, will play Ali Hakim - the itinerant peddler. The role of psycopathic Jud Fry will be exchanged between Scott Morris and Chris Robinson while Debbie Roberts provides comedy as the flirtatous Gertie Cummings. Peter Granoff, often featured in Big Sur's Little Lyric Theatre, will enact Ado Annie's gun totin' pa. Indomitable Aunt Eller is a part interchanged between Deniz Cetin and Kathy McEldowney.

KITTY HENDRIX

CHRIS HANSEN

Many other fine dancer-singer and instrumental performers add their talents to make a programme of fun and drama for all.

"Oklahoma!" opens with a 4:00 p.m. matinee April 24. Evening performances will be April 25 and 26, May 1 and 2 at 8:00 p.m. with a second matinee on April 30.

String Trio to be featured

A Sunday afternoon concert at 4 p.m. will bring the Stoia String Trio to the Monterey Peninsula under the sponsorship of the Chamber Music Society.

Eugene Stoia, violinist, is director of strings at San Jose City College and conductor of the San Jose Youth Symphony. He has served as professor of violin and chamber music at the State Conservatory of Music in Innsbruch, Austria and concertmaster of the St. Louis Philharmonic.

Albert Gillis, violist, will play the Stradivaius viola, made in 1731 and once owned by Paganini. He is a professor of music at San Jose State and a former member of the Paganini String Quartet.

Cellist Donald Homuth, also professor of music at San Jose State College, is a former member of the New York Symphony, National Symphony in Washington, D.C., the Tomasow String Quartet and the Philharmonic String Quartet.

Black entertainers present their 'thing' at Forest Theatre

They call it "Black Is Happening" at the Forest Theatre in Carmel.

For Carmel, it was, if nothing else, a sample of what is certainly going on in the "outside world".

But it was a harmless sample at best, and for the Black artists, most of them young, their thing was entertainment, not bitter protest.

It was put together by a group of Black students at Monterey Peninsula College, all of whom are participating in a new Black Arts program.

They did it with the help of Ronald Guilliamette, who has don so much with the Young Artists Theatre at the Forest.

The stars and leaders in putting together "Black Is Happening" are Dale Diggs and Betty Waldrup, both talented dancers. They call their theatrical venture, which opened last weekend, "improvisations", and so it certainly is.

This permitted about anything to happen, which was the case. There was plenty of African bongo music, countless tribal-like dances, but there was also contemporary music, and a few skits with a satirical skein aimed at "white folks".

JoAnn Price provided the Soul music and what she lacked as a piano player she more than made up for with her vibrant contralto.

Then there was Mike Spencer, a real cool cat on the bongos, who got lots of downbeat help from Butch Harris and Miguel Watson.

Cheryl Mitchem was the rhythm gal and Brenda did some interpretive dancing that was easy to watch even though cryptic.

Offered as their "token", Tony Padilla as a dancer if nothing else certainly appeared as a contrast. The only non-Black in the cast, he was described as their "brown brother".

Diggs, who bears a remarkable resemblance to Johnny Mathis, could have a bright career on the stage. His singing may not be professional, but he has a splendid athletic grace and likable poise.

It is hard to describe what Betty Waldrup offers to this unique performance. But it is something positive. She is the one who keeps the show moving. And one is amazed at her agility and provocativeness as a dancer; certainly not dainty, she exhibits the Black Is Beautiful idea as genuine and believable.

Bertha Waldrup did the colorful costuming.

The Black Art on exhibit in the lobby was also unique. The photos were by Bob Waldrup, the oils by Tom Webb and wood carvings by Ray Avery.

All the proceeds from Black Is Happening goes to the Black Arts Workshop at MPC. Attendance has not been overwhelming, which is a pity. The show goes on again this weekend — Friday, Saturday and Sunday at "The Theatre in the Ground."

Three Carmel Valley youths star on Carmel track team

Three Carmel Valley youths—a pole vaulter, a discus thrower and a middle-distance runner—are among the standouts of this year's Carmel High School track team.

Doug Updike, a senior, is rated by his coach Bob Walthour as "one of the top ten pole vaulters in the state." His top vault of 13' 8-1/2" is a new school record, besting Phil White's old mark of 13' 1". White, it should be noted, later became a 16' vaulter for Stanford University after graduating from Carmel High.

Updike's 13' 8-1/2" valut is the second best of the season in the Central Coast section, 1/2" below the top vault of 13' 9". Since the top three placers in the Central Coast section track meet go on to compete in the State Championships, Updike's prospects of competing in the state meet are very good.

Another Carmel High record breaker with an excellent chance of qualifying for the state meet is 6'4", 238 lb. Gary Kelly. Kelly, also a senior, specializes in the manly art of discus hurling, and has a school record toss of 167' 3" to his credit.

Kelly first broke Doyle Klaytoh's old record of 140' as a freshman, and has broken his own school record each year since. His current mark ranks him third in the Central Coast section, making him another likely prospect for state competition.

A third Carmel Valley standout, Rick Drobek, is only a junior. Last year as a sophomore, Drobek was clocked at 51.9 for a 440-yd. leg of a mile relay, a very good time for a second-year trackster. Coach Walthour predicts he will be a league champion in the 440-yd. run this season.

Carmelo children visit Dahle ranch

When spring comes, it is very interesting to young children to study animals and animal babies.

Last week the young students of Carmelo school visited the Ben M. Dahle Ranch on Meadows road, where they have been going for seven years, to observe and feed the animals. They study mammals, and the fact that some animals hatch and others are born.

The children then return to school and write stories about their experiences. They interpret these experiences in many different ways.

Some children choose to paint, some draw, others make animals out of clay and tell about them.

Some children want to draw a picture on a ditto master and this is run off so that all the children have a copy with the attendant.

CARMELO LOWER PRIMARY, the first three magic years of school are enjoyed by the young group in some horseplay.

District scouts gather in Valley

Carmel Valley, "the Rauber Tract" to be specific, was selected as the site of the annual Boy Scout Spring Camporee for several hundred boys from troops which comprise the Monterey District.

Dan Hatch, a student from Monterey at MPC, directed the weekend assisted by Dave Lederer. Bob Owens was in charge of first aid.

"Nature Scavenger Hunt" was the theme. Led by their patrol leaders the boys set off with their assignments and were told not to return before three o'clock or later than four. They collected samples of wild plants, trees, geology specimens, and had to make plaster casts of three animals.

Blue ribbons were presented to the Troops returning with the most correctly identified items and each Troop received a red ribbon for participation.

It was a memorable weekend and the boys expressed sincere appreciation to Jack and Enid Rauber for allowing them to utilize their property.

Four mishaps in Valley during past week

Four calls were received by volunteers of the Carmel Valley Fire Department for the Red Cross Ambulance.

June Gillette of South Bank Road was injured last weekend when she was hit by a car from which she had just jumped at the Robles del Rio Bridge, according to the California Highway Patrol

Ambulance crews reported she suffered a possible fracture of the right leg and lacerations of the right arm.

Mrs. Gillette first hit a marker at the side of the road and then was hit by the car which hit the bridge three times before stopping, according to the investigating officer's reports.

The driver was listed as Ygnacio Azacarate, whose address is unknown, the CHP said.

FALL FROM HORSE

Leslie Condren, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Condren of Country Club Drive, suffered fractured ribs and a possible back injury when she was thrown from a horse near her home Saturday at 6:19 p.m.

She was given first aid and transported the the Community Hospital by firemen.

MEDICAL EMERGENCY

Charles Beales of Hitchcock Canyon was transported to Monterey Hospital as a medical emergency when volunteer firemen responded to a call with the ambulance last Thursday.

LIGHTS OUT

Lights went out on Country Club Drive last week when a car collided with a pole at the foot of that street and Carmel Valley Road.

Lou Frandell was taken to the Community Hospital by volunteers of the fire department after the accident. The ambulance crew were startled to find a tame mountain lion riding as a passenger in the wreckage.

Rabies shots next week

Rabies shots for dogs will be given at a reduced fee at the fire station Friday, May 2, from noon to 2 p.m.

Dr. D.L. Caswell, veterinarian of the Monterey County Health Department will conduct the clinic. Innoculation for dogs is required every two years by law.

Brock receives overwhelming vote of confidence at polls

The Rev. James Brock of Carmel Valley ran far ahead of a field of six candidates in the Carmel Unified School District board of education election last week.

Voters also elected James I. Miller of Carmel to fill two vacancies on the board; Miller replaces Clayton Neill, Jr., who was not a candidate for re-election.

Brock polled 1,776 votes and Miller 1,317; their four-year terms begin on July 1.

Brock, who is rector of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church, was appointed last year to fill a vacancy on the board.

Here is the way voters in the Valley cast their votes for the six candidates:

	River	Carmelo	Tularcitos	Total All Precincts
James Brock	159	354	289	1,776
James Miller	138	257	178	1,317
Barbara Sanford	73	78	82	585
Reginald Dewar	18	32	34	271
Andrea Gill	19	26	33	179
Ruth Morrice	9	18	28	128

More rural routes set up for Carmel

Congressman Burt L. Talcott (California, 12th District) announced today that the Post Office Department will establish regular rural routes 4 and 5 at Carmel, effective May 3.

Talcott said, "these new routes will provide needed relief to presently overburdened rural routes 1, 2 and 3."

Rural route 4 will consist of 12.95 miles and serve 466 families through 422 boxes.

Rural route 5 will travel 19.40 miles and will serve 378 families through 345 boxes.

The Congressman said that the Post Office has advised him that there will be no additional cost to establish this service.

COUNTY BOARD

Richard Bragg of Carmel Point ousted John Shephard of Monterey from the Peninsula trustee area on the County Board of Education.

Bragg's margin was decisive in all three of the Peninsula districts. He led in the Carmel district 1,242 to 680, in Pacific Grove 1,030 to 443 and in Monterey 1,958 to 1,543.

Shephard had been an outspoken critic of Ed Coffin, county superintendent, who successfully defended charges brought against him for misuse of funds.

COLLEGE BOARD

There was no contest for the two vacancies on the Monterey Peninsula College board of education.

The incumbents, Ralph Atkinson of Big Sur who received 9,252 votes, and Sherman Smith of Seaside who received 6,259, were returned for new four-year terms.

Carmel Valley Outlook
Carmel Valley Road

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan — 659—2468

Mrs. Stella Miller of River Road celebrated her new status as an Octegenarian with festivities planned by her daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Danielson and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mayfield to coincide with the meeting last week of the Fidelity Club.

Tables at the Fellowship Hall were decorated by Mr. and Mrs. Lin Dickey with small arrangements of lavender and pink flowers which complimented the guest of honor's lavender dress.

The beautiful birthday cake baked by Mrs. Barbara Robertson, former Valley-ite now of Pacific Grove, topped with pink roses and trimmed in lavender tones, was enjoyed by the large number of members attending, many of them who were long time friends of Mrs. Miller.

On Saturday, Mrs. Miller shared birthday dinner honors with Mr. Austin Mayfield of Monterey who was celebrating his 82nd birthday, at a party planned for their parents by Ruth and Ed Mayfield at their home on Laurel Drive. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Doug Forzani and children Leslie and Steven, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Danielson and Joe, Mr. Ray Danielson and son Neil, Shirley Barlow and Candy Barlow, all of Salinas, Ron Mayfield, and Francine De Vos.

Many happy returns to both Mrs. Miller and Mr. Mayfield who have many friends in the Valley.

"An old oak leaf cluster" to the residents of the Carmel Valley Manor who are going to sponsor a Little League team, the Giants, this season.

Recently in each mail box they found the following ballots: "To all Grandmas and Grandpas: Grand Aunts and Grand Uncles too: "Play Ball!" the umpire shouts. And how they scramble out on the diamond. They are all boys. Boys who love baseball. What boy's life is complete without baseball?"

The baseball season has already started. The Carmel Valley Little League, although organization has begun, lacks sponsors; so many boys may not be able to play this season. How about it residents? Shall we, the Carmel Valley Residents Assn. sponsor ONE TEAM? No contributions will be asked. The funds will be supplied by the Residents Council - $200. That is what we call bridging the generation gap with concrete and steel.

Also a "cluster" to the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church and the Carmel Valley Community Chapel who signed last week to sponsor the Tigers. What a great alliance of Lower, Mid, and Upper Valley residents. They will be called "The 3 Churches." This leaves two Farm Teams still without sponsors. Won't someone PLEASE back these twenty six boys? It only costs $100 for each team.

Friends from Huntington Harbor, California were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Papineau at the Adobe Oaks. Mrs. Virginia Questad, who has been Carrie's close friend since they were in the sixth grade together, arrived for a first time Valley visit. She was accompanied by her son, Gary and her daughter, Susan, who celebrated her twelfth birthday with the Papineau's daughter, Anne.

How do you top a story of a mountain lion? Classmates in the split second and third grade of Emily White, and in the fourth grade of her brother, Gordon, have come to the conclusion that the prospects of doing so are extremely rare and have (with another two months of school remaining) acknowledged the White children as 1969 Share and Tell story tellers of the year!

More than one parent given a dinner-time account of Ollie White stopping at the scene of a Valley Road accident and transporting a mountain lion from the wrecked car to a home in Hitchcock Canyon, tried to change the leading animal character in the story to hopefully... .... "a large dog!" Even the faith of the biggest skeptics was shaken with the exasperated child's question, "But, Muttherr, would a big dog bite a chunk out of Mr. White's upholstery!"

....makes for one of the best cat stories since a few years ago when a Valley rancher who had been besieged by a mountain lion depleting his band of sheep, spotlighted the critter in a tree in his orchard one night and shot him. Throwing the lamb-chop-plump-cat in the back of his pickup, he drove down to the crowded Stirrup Cup, where he walked in and announced, "I just killed a cougar down by the Carmel Valley Inn." He stoically withstood the ensuing barrage of jeers, and cat calls until the hoped for offer was made by the late Dean Wolters. "If you killed ANY kind of a cat tonight I'll buy drinks for the house!" Never was there a more complete silence than when he returned from his pickup and made a grand entrance Paul Bunyon style with the lion, which measured six feet from tip to tip and weighed 130 pounds, slung over his shoulder!

While their children played on the lush green grounds of the Wagon Wheel picnic area, their mothers attended a Koffee and Sara Coventry Jewelry party at the home of Mrs. Dean Espinosa. Mrs. Dorothy Webb of Marina served as demonstrator. Among those attending were Mrs. Angie Crippen, Mrs. Leona Avila, Mrs. Dorothy Buelma and Miss Deanetta Espinosa.

An "old oak leaf cluster" to the gentlemen from the Schilling plant in Salinas who reside in the Valley, who spent last weekend adding "spice" to the Community Center. Organized by Gordon Harlander, the men turned out in old clothes, with paint brushes resulting in a complete face lifting for the Center. Workers included Roy Lorenz, George Compas, Charles Finnell, Gordon Yates, Rod Fleming and Bill Brodrick.

Can you imagine an eleven year old girl alone on a Hawaiian holiday attending classes even if she didn't have to, during Easter vacation? It was fun, agreed Nancy Pryer, to see how the classes at St. Andrews, a private school in Honolulu, compared to the classes at Tularcitos. Nancy was driven to San Francisco by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Rex Pryer, where she enplaned for Hawaii. She was the guest of the James Campbells, who formerly lived at the mouth of the Valley, while Jim attended the Post Graduate School. With their children Gail, Jane, and Doug, Nancy swam at Waikiki, visited the Sea Life Park, took the cruise of Pearl Harbor, visited Barbers Point, and many other interesting places before her ten day trip ended and she returned to her family on Calle De La Paloma.

Tami Stainbrook has a very special birthdate....April 1! This year her mother planned her ninth birthday celebration with a party with an Easter theme. A large basket containing a stuffed rabbit and eggs (take home favors filled with candy for each guest) centered the refreshment table decorated in shades of yellow and pink. The children enjoyed games and dancing to records planned by Mrs. Stainbrook's cohostesses, Judy Koonz and Linda Tedrow. Attending were Karen Talley, Patricia Klump, Regan Freazer, Cindy Alexander, Cynthia Platter, Gladys Zarazuga (who won the door prize), Mary Kaminske, and Tami's sister, Stacy. Tami is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Stainbrook of 56 Lupin Lane.

The "Phantom Oak Moth" has a message from a small Scotch Terrier named Tartan Mac Thistledown who lives down the Carmel Valley Road. She hoped that parents would profit from her sad tick experience if they knew that the lush rain fed tall grasses are harboring a lush rain (and now scotty-fed) crop of ticks. Better check!

The May 1 House Tour has "sparked" more than a little interest in the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department, who have been promised two hairline traction splints to add to their first aid equipment by sponsors of the tour, The Carmel Valley Women's Club. The afore mentioned splints would have been particularly beneficial in the rescue and transporting of an accident victim who recently fell over the cliff behind Rippling River Resort.

...further House Tour notes from Elizabeth Hoisington, who is in charge of identifying the scheduled stops: Elizabeth and her committee have taken the lovely flowers stored since the Fiesta De Los Amigos from storage and with a bit of renovating, will fashion them into colorful floral garlands.

...all of the Tour talk has naturally brought about reflections of other years such as those in '49 and '51 which were benefits for Guide Dogs for the Blind. In 1949 it took 50 minutes to drive to or from Carmel, so crowded were the roads with people eager to see the homes of the Robert Stanton's, Noel Sullivan's (now the site of the CV Manor), Sandy Griffin's, Edison Holt's, Ellis Spiegel's. The tour cleared $1700.

The 1951 tour included the last two post adobe homes built by the late Hugh Comstock and belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Hal Graham and the Bill Wolf's. Also the Double H Ranch of Mrs. Henry Potter Russel (to be seen on the '69 tour), the Robert Stanton's, the River Ranch of S.F.B. Morse, the George Seideneck's, and the Herman Fletcher's.

Sgt. David Papineau received his discharge at Camp Pendleton last week from the US Marine Corps and was welcomed home by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Papineau, and his sister, Anne. David plans to help his parents during the summer months at the Adobe Oaks and will attend college in September.

***

Springtime on the dessert was a new experience and very different from their native Massachusetts for the Draper children, Don Jr., Murray, Kathy, Dorie, Peggy, and Steven who accompanied their parents, Kaye and Don on the Easter vacation trek. They spent a day exploring the old ghost town of Calico, camped at Death Valley and swam at Reno enroute home.

Rummage Sale for Cypress Swim Club

If you have finished your Spring housecleaning and come up with items no longer useful to you, but possibly of value to someone else, the Cypress Swim Club could use them for its annual spring "Something for Everyone" rummage sale which will be held this Saturday at the American Legion Hall in Carmel between 10:00 and 4:00 p.m.

All contributions to the non-profit Cypress Swim Club are tax-deductible, and donations will be accepted up to the last minute. To arrange for pick-up of any contributions, call Del Neel, club manager, at 659-2446 after 8:00 p.m.

Proceeds from the sale go into the transportation fund of the local club which conducts a program of AAU competitive synchronized swimming for girls residing anywhere on the Monterey Peninsula. In its four-year history, starting with the dedication of the Carmel Valley Community Center Pool, the club has risen from relative obscurity to the fourth most important team in National AAU standing.

MEXICAN THEME FOR DANCE

"A Trip to Mexico" is the theme of the evening when the Carmel Valley Community Yough Center entertain with dinner, dancing and movie shorts Friday evening from 6:30 to 11 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams Evans of Via Contente, became the parents of a son, Daniel William, born April 12 at the Community Hospital.

Carmel Valley man skippers new ship

USNS Desteiguer (T-AGOR-12) one of the Navy's new oceanographic research vessels, visits Monterey on April 23 and 24. Its skipper is Captain R.W. Gregg of Carmel Valley.

The 208-foot ship is presently undergoing her "shake-down cruise" and systems check tests. Built at a cost of $7 million, Desteiguer is twelfth in a series of Navy oceanographic research vessels and carries the most modern ocean research equipment.

Next year, the vessel will be loaned to the Naval Postgraduate School for an 8-week period, during which NPS faculty and students will participate in several research cruises.

Desteiguer arrived in Monterey and docked at the Coast Guard pier at approximately 7 a.m. on Wednesday, and will hold Open House during her stay. The public is invited to tour the vessel from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on April 23, and from 10 a.m. to 12 a.m. on the 24th.

DON'T FORGET IT'S THAT TIME

Clocks will be set forward one hour as daylight savings time goes into effect Sunday.

The time change takes place at midnight, and Sunday church services will be an hour earlier sun time.

INVEST IN AMERICA

INVEST-IN-AMERICA WEEK—April 27 - May 3

The Invest-in-America Council advises "Your savings and investments mean money at work for greater economic growth."

About a year ago in this column, I told of our efforts to put a halt to malicious and obscene calls. Today, I'm happy to report that the tide is turning in the battle against abusive telephone callers.

By working closely with Monterey Peninsula law enforcement agencies, giving many of our employees special training, and using a variety of new electronic devices, many of the callers have been identified.

The best advice I can offer you, should you receive such a call, is to hang up. Don't give the caller a chance to get started. This usually deprives the caller the main thing he wants—an audience. However, should the calls continue, I encourage you to call our Monterey Business Office, where a specially trained representative will be available to assist you.

Don't miss the Bell System's TV Special, "A Look on the Light Side," Saturday, April 26 at 7:30 p.m. on NBC. It's a fast-moving musical venture that takes you on an unexpected travel tour around the country. Check your local TV listings for the channel.

If your service or social club is interested in a behind the scenes look at telephone service, just give us a call. We now have speakers available for "More Words Less Wires", a lecture-demonstration tracing the history of telephone interconnection from the use of a single wire through the development of cable, coaxial microwave, satellite and laser beam applications.

Carmel Valley Community Chapel has wide spectrum of activities

BY CHARLES JENNINGS

Though non-denominational, the Carmel Valley Community Chapel is a firmly established secure Protestant church with a definite character.

Established originally by residents of the Valley as a Sunday School, the Community Chapel emerged as an actual religious body 11 years ago with the coming of its first and only minister, the Rev. Don Johnson.

Although ordained an American Baptist minister, Rev. Johnson has a strong ecumenical background as a Navy Chaplain and campus minister at Southern Illinois University.

His unusually broad educational background prepared him for such a ministry for following his Baptist seminary preparation, he attended graduate school at Union Seminary in New York City (non-denominational), the University of Edinburgh (Presbyterian), University of Lund, Sweden (Lutheran), and the University of Zurich (Reformed Church).

"I am more interested in ecumenical community spirit than in any particular denomination, Rev. Johnson remarked.

The Community Chapel has no denominational creed, but, as Rev. Johnson said, "We are Christian." What this involves, according to the Community Chapel minister, is an acceptance of Christ as Lord and the following of His teachings.

"I like to see churches emphasize the areas where we all agree rather than the points of difference," said Rev. Johnson. "One of Jesus' greatest themes was, 'that they may be one'."

The ecumenical theme, as might be expected, is quite important at the Community Chapel. In addition to fostering an internal "co-operative community spirit" among the membership of his church, which is made up of people from many different denominations, Rev. Johnson is interested also in the ecumenical movement among the different established churches and would like to see an ecumenical movement begin in the Valley with a strong church-sponsored non-denominational program for the entire youth of the Valley.

Like nearly all modern churches, the Community Chapel does now have its own youth program. With approximately 10 to 15 students each at the junior high and high school level, the program centers around Sunday discussions of current events "in terms of how they apply to these young people."

A young couple in the church leads these groups and some of the discussions take place on excursions like overnight hikes, bowling parties, etc.

Unlike some churches, the Community Chapel also has a program for those at the other end of the spectrum, for those over 50. The Fidelity group meets once monthly for a supper fellowship program. This club serves several in the community who have no other affiliation with the Chapel.

A significant program at the Community Church is Rev. Johnson's counseling program. Under Rev. Johnson's direction, couples or individuals are given a standard psychological test designed to deepen the testee's self-knowledge. With this test as a starting point, groups are formed in which the members together "attempt to understand themselves and deepen their spiritual awareness."

The groups are not permanent, but do meet together for six months up to a year. Rev. Johnson forms the groups only periodically; they do not operate on any fixed schedule, and the group meetings are not merely sessions of group pyschotherapy, but according to Rev. Johnson, have the qualities of a religious experience as well.

"I think what we have learned about human behavior through psychology is important," he says, "but there is often a dimension left out – spiritually."

In addition to this group counseling, Rev. Johnson is involved in a number of activities designed to strengthen family life, such as individual counseling with a single couple or family. He feels strongly that this is one area where "the church needs to become involved."

How can the church serve the family? Answers Rev. Johnson: "Through Christian education, family worship, and family counseling. We feel worship should be a family situation."

To this end, the Community Chapel recently rescheduled its Sunday worship and church school for the same time, 10:00, so that the entire family could come to the church at the same time.

One of the most interesting activities of the Community Chapel, and one of the most valuable to the community, is the operation of a Thrift Shop on the upper floor of the education building adjacent to the Chapel on Village Drive.

The non-profit, low-priced shop was started with the idea of providing things of all variety for people who needed these materials at a cheap price.

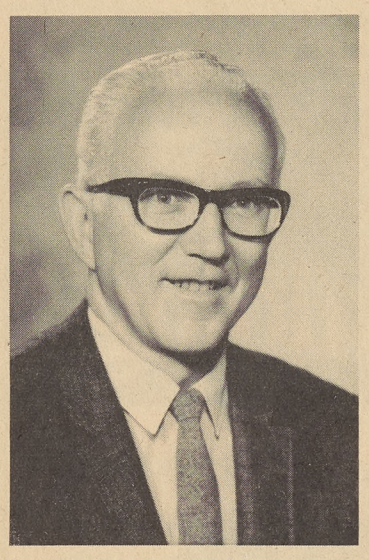
Staffed by volunteer women of the Community Chapel Guild the Thrift shop serves a threefold purpose for the Chapel: it has been giving some money to the church budget while being a means of service to the community and has also sent dozens of boxes to needy migrant families, Viet Nam relief and Mexican orphanages.

Other activities sponsored by the church include a summer camp program and a large summer Bible School for the very young through high school aged youth. Other Valley churches also participate in this community Bible School.

In line with its community spirit, the Chapel opens its nursery and kindergarten quarters weekday mornings to the local co-operative nursery school for a program (under the Carmel School system) of parent education and pre-school experience for youngsters 2-1/2 through 5. Rev. Johnson's wife is director of this family program.

The Community Chapel is governied by a local Board of Trustees, with the following serving as officers: Dr. Darrel Jewett, chairman; Emil Hansen, vice-chairman; Mrs. Leonard Rhoades, secretary; and Almira Davis, treasurer.

Since beginning work in this area, Mr. Johnson has been very active in the group where ministers work together –the Monterey Peninsula Ministers Association – serving as president for two years. He also serves on the board of Operation Shoestrings.



REV. NED H. HOLMGREN

THE REV. DON JOHNSON, pastor of Carmel Valley Community Chapel.

Training program planned by First Baptist Church

A three-day program of intensive training in one-to-one encounter with the Gospel is planned for members of First Baptist Church, Carmel, located at Carmel Valley Road and Schulte.

According to the Pastor, Rev. Ned H. Holmgren, the ROW PROGRAM (Renewal of Witness), aims at gaining new insights and new techniques in the principle and practice of personal contacts for Christ.

Seminar leaders will include Mr. Warren Willis, director of Campus Crusade on the University of California campus at Berkeley, and Rev. Glenn Anderson, pastor of Willow Glen Baptist Church, San Jose.

The public is invited to attend all sessions of the program, beginning Friday evening at 7:30, on Saturday at 10:00, 1:30, and 6:00 p.m.

Registration fee for the entire seminar is $2.50, of which a portion will go towards honorariums for the speakers and the remainder will be applied to cover the cost of materials supplied to those who attend.

Call 624-5551 for any further details.

Chorus repeats Mass

A repeat performance of Haydn's "Lord Nelson Mass" has been scheduled by the Monterey Peninsula College Chorus for Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Carmelite Monastery on Highway 1 south of Carmel.

The public is cordially invited to attend without charge.

First performance of the mass - and probably the first on the Peninsula, according to Dr. Harvey Marshall, chairman of the MPC music department - was given April 13 at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel.

Carmel High wins consolation finals at Soquel Baseball tourney

Carmel High's baseball team, which has had an up-and-down season, can take some consolation.

In fact it took the consolation finals Saturday of the Soquel Baseball tourney, downing Redwood High, 3-2.

Tom Boyd allowed Redwood only 2 hits while striking out 4 and walking only one. He had to smother a Redwood rally in the last of the 7th to nail it down.

The Padres collected 7 hits off losing pitcher Kevin Mantooth – 2 of them by Hood.

Carmel wasn't so lucky in its league contest Friday in Carmel against Hollister.

Lee Mark allowed the visitors only 3 hits, while his mates banged out 9 safe blows, but still lost 4-3. But he gave up 6 walks and they were fatal.

Argust led the Padre hitting with 3 hits including a triple while Hall had a pair of singles.

Here's a rundown on Carmel's fate on the diamond the previous week, which also had its ups and downs:

Senior Lee Mark struck out 14. Freshman outfielder Al Hood poled out a 335-foot home run. But the Carmel Varsity Baseballers bowed Friday to Pacific Grove, 6-4, their third loss in as many MTAL outings.

The statistics were even except for the final score, each team collecting only 4 hits, each each with 2 errors, and each leaving 8 on the bases.

But 4 of the PG runs started out as walked batsmen by Mark, and another counter came as a result of veteran secondbaseman Rusty Vandervort's error.

The Breakers took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Dan Mc Guire's single, and never were headed. For PG Ted Golding had a 3-run double in the fourth, after Mark had walked 2 and allowed a batter to reach first on an infield roller by not covering the initial sack in time.

It was in this disastrous fourth that Vandervort had to handle a tricky hop and hurry his throw to first after the bobble.

So the walks and late coverage of first by Mark and the error charged to Vandervort didn't help the Padres in this inning.

Fine defensive play was provided Carmel by Al Hood's diving catch of McGuire's fast-sinking liner in the third, catcher Chris Smith's trap of a throw from Vandervort to register a putout, also in the fourth, and shortstop Malcombe Hall's three fine plays on infield grounders.

Speaking of walks, Nance, in issuing 2 passes, allowed 2 of the 4 Carmel runs, in this department. Hall scored first for the Padres when he walked in the third, pilfered second and third and came home on firstbaseman Mitch Kastros' ground out to second.

Kastros collected a 2-run double in the last inning to account for 3 of the 4 Padre runs batted-in. Other hits were by Hood with his solo homer in the fourth, Vandervort's line single to left in the hello frame and thirdsacker Jay Argust's infield single in the seventh.

Carmel Mentor Monte Feekis praised Mark's 14 strikeouts, the highest registered by a local pitcher in his 4 years of coaching. The righthanded fastballer struck out the side in the second (after one walk) and in the last inning, in order, to finish impressively.
